

Telegraphic News.

From Missouri.

LEXINGTON, Mo., Aug. 19.—Brigadier General Lane is here with reinforcements, rendering the safety of this place certain.

The gun-boat Warner, which can do valuable service in protecting the city in case of an attack, is also here.

Some of Quantrill's general orders have been found near here. They ask all persons wishing to escape being drafted into the Federal army to join his camps, where they will find arms and ammunition to operate against the Federal troops at every possible point.

They also state that every man who is liable to be drafted in the United States army who is found to be going to any Federal military post, or any person who is known to have reported to any military post the whereabouts of the Southern army, shall be shot wherever found; also, any one known to have paid money to the Federal Government to exempt him from military duty, is liable to have his property taken for the use of the Southern army.

These orders emanated from the commander of the forces recognized as regular soldiers by Rebel Secretary of War.

Occupation of Bayou Sara.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 16.—The Grenada Appeal, of the 13th, states that the Federals took possession of Bayou Sara on Monday, the 11th inst., seizing all the sugar and molasses, and quartering a garrison there.

Also, that the Confederates have been reinforced in Arkansas, that the ordnance stores have been increased, and that Gen. Holmes has assumed the command in that State.

The Appeal contains a long editorial, in which it says: "The sooner we cease to look for foreign or European intervention, the better for all concerned."

The writer also designates Vallandigham, Wood, Pierce and Seymour, of Connecticut, with some half a dozen other prominent men, as the only true friends the South can count upon in the North.

From Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 19.—Morgan is reported to be at Hartsville with 1800 men.

The train which left Bowling Green this morning has arrived. It met the up-train from Nashville at Red River and exchanged passengers.

LOCAL.—Brig. Gens. Corcoran and Wilcox yesterday afternoon visited this city and the surrounding fortifications. They were saluted by the guns at the forts.—W. H. Tatsapaugh, of this city, was arrested in Baltimore yesterday, charged with treason, and sent to Fort McHenry. Mr. T. has recently returned from the South, and was in Baltimore on a visit.

New Campaign in Virginia.

The New York World says:—"The announcement that Gen. McClellan has succeeded in withdrawing his command from its position on the James river, will be received with lively satisfaction. It was a perilous operation.—This movement has been in contemplation ever since Gen. Halleck assumed command of the whole army. In case of a concentrated attack on Pope, McClellan's command, in its late position, would have been incapable of rendering efficient assistance. It was attended with much temporary danger during its execution, and will for several days to come be of considerable temporary advantage to the enemy, whom it relieves of any apprehension for the safety of Richmond on that side, and leaves at liberty to hurl his whole effective force against the army of Gen. Pope. Although McClellan is safely away from his late encampment, the junction of the two armies is not yet effected, and it is possible that a great battle may be fought before they are brought into proximity. We suppose it was in reference to this that Gen. Halleck remarked on Sunday, that, if the Union armies escaped any serious disaster during this week, he should feel no further apprehension.

It would be a great mistake to suppose that the army which Gen. McClellan withdrew on Saturday from Harrison's Landing was as strong as the one with which he took up that position after the seven days' battle. Quite a proportion of his best troops were taken away piecemeal and preceded him in the retreat.—When Burnside was ordered to the vicinity of James river it was ostensibly to reinforce McClellan, but really as a sponge to quietly soak up a portion of his army and convey it away.

The public solicitude will now take a new direction. The Confederates were already sensible how vitally it concerned them to attack Pope before the new levies were brought into the field. Their activity in reinforcing Jackson will be redoubled when they learn that a difference of two or three days may be the difference between fighting Pope alone or fighting him strengthened by the command of McClellan. If a battle can be avoided until the army of the Potomac and the army of Virginia are brought together, the new campaign will open under favorable auspices. We take it for granted that Pope will not at present make any further advance toward Richmond, except as a feint. We suppose the boldness of his previous movement in that direction was a part of General Halleck's masterly combination for deceiving the enemy as to his real intention respecting the army on James river."

An Important Order by General Casey.

HEADQUARTERS PROVISIONAL BRIGADES, } WASHINGTON, August 18, 1862. }

General Order No. 2.—1. The attention of the troops of this command is called to the following article of war:—

No. 54. All officers and soldiers are to behave themselves orderly in quarters and on their march; and whoever shall commit any waste, or spoil either in walks of trees, parks, warrens, fish ponds, houses or gardens, cornfields, enclosures of meadows, or shall maliciously destroy any property whatsoever belonging to the inhabitants of the United States, unless by order of the then Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the United States, shall (besides such penalties as they are liable to by law) be punished according to the nature and degree of the offence by the judgment of a regimental or general court-martial.

2. The recent Presidential order directing the seizure of the enemy's property in an orderly manner in no degree modifies the meaning of the foregoing article of war, but is directly in accordance therewith. Marauding, indiscriminate pillage and acts of violence towards unarmed men, women and children, are as unworthy the character of the Union soldier as injurious to the noble cause he defends.—Such practices, alike destructive of personal honor and military discipline, are strictly forbidden.

3. The enforcement of the foregoing article of war is particularly enjoined on regimental commanders.

By order of Brigadier General Silas Casey.
